

How to Use

- You can print out the pages for your child, or have them read our social story on a tablet, phone, or computer. Use whatever works best for your child!
- Use roleplay or provide specific reinforcements to help your child practice the skills in this social story! For example, after finishing this story, you can discuss the message with your child and roleplay similar situations.
- This social story is part of our series on holidays. You can find the rest on our website: <https://www.speechandaba.com/>

Essential Speech & ABA Therapy

TRICK  R

TREAT

Halloween is on October 31st.

A Halloween-themed illustration of a night scene. In the foreground, there are two jack-o'-lanterns, one wearing a witch's hat. To the right, four children are dressed in costumes: an angel in a wheelchair holding a small pumpkin, a vampire in a black cape, a skeleton, and a mummy. The background features a large full moon, a dark tree, two flying bats, and a spiderweb with a spider. The sky is dark teal with white stars.

A lot of people like to dress up on Halloween. They might dress up as vampires, mummies, ghosts, and more! I can dress up, too.

This year, I will dress up as:

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

People also like to go trick or treating.

Trick or treat is when kids go door to door to get candy.

First, walk up to the house or apartment door.

Then, knock on the door.

Next, say “Trick or Treat” and hold out your bag or bucket. The person at the door will put candy or a treat in your bag.

After they put the candy in the bag, it is best to say “Thank you!”

THANK YOU!

When I trick or treat, I will:

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

If there is a house with no light on, that means they do not have candy.

It is best to go trick or treating with family or other safe adult.

This year, I will go trick or treating with:

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Trick or treating is very fun! Happy Halloween!

